

NAME: Ayeisha Kirkham

CLASS OF: 2000

After sixth form I studied BSc Environmental Health at Nottingham Trent University. I graduated with a First in 2004. Since then I have worked within Environmental Health, first at Coventry City Council and then at North Kesteven District Council in Lincolnshire where I am now the Environmental Protection Manager.

I was lucky enough to join LSST the second year after it opened. So the school was pretty small in terms of student numbers. It felt such a safe place and had a 'team' feel to it. I made some fantastic life long friends.

My best advice would be, once you find something you love, stick with it as you may just thrive and beat your own expectations.
